Message from the Chairman

It is with excitement that the National Endowment for the Arts shares with you the first-ever Native Arts and Cultural Heritage Federal Resource Guide. This guide provides information to connect Native communities to resources that can sustain and invigorate arts and cultural heritage initiatives.

Native American, Alaska Native, and Native Hawaiian arts, humanities, and cultural heritage are dynamic, diverse, and deeply meaningful. Our agency is committed to supporting this work, and we thank our federal partners for their collaborative spirit in serving a diverse range of community and cultural needs. The contents of this resource guide are a reflection of the cultural components of the United States government's trust relationship with tribal communities.

I want to thank Chloe Elm (Tonawanda Band of Seneca Indians of New York) and Anna Needham (Red Lake Anishinaabe) for developing this resource guide. Both Chloe and Anna interned at the Arts Endowment through the Native American Political Leadership Program at George Washington University, and their work on this guide was instrumental and indispensable.

I hope you find this resource guide useful.

Sincerely,

MACarter

Mary Anne Carter Chairman, National Endowment for the Arts

Introduction

This resource guide is a consolidation of opportunities offered by federal agencies for organizations looking for funding and other resources to support Native arts and culture activities.

The guide includes opportunities for multiple eligible entities, including federally recognized tribes, Alaska Natives, Native Hawaiians, non-federally recognized tribes, and nonprofits that serve NAANNH¹ populations.

There is an appendix following the list of agencies that breaks down funding opportunities by category:

- Arts & Crafts
- Community Building
- Education
- Language
- Training for the Fields of Arts & Culture

Color-coded symbols are provided with each grant opportunity to show which groups are eligible to apply. Below is the key:

- Federally recognized tribes²
- Alaska-Native villages and corporations³
- Native-Hawaiian organizations
- Non-federally recognized tribal government/organization
- Nonprofits serving NAANNH communities

² Federally recognized: an American Indian or Alaska Native tribal entity that is recognized as having a government-to-government relationship with the United States, with the responsibilities, powers, limitations, and obligations attached to that designation, and is eligible for funding and services from the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

³ Alaska Native corporations: a means for distributing land and monetary benefits to Alaska Natives in lieu of a reservation system

Main Point of Contact:

Tim Grosser National Program Leader Division of Community and Education 4445 Waterfront Centre Email: tgrosser@nifa.usda.gov Phone Number: (202) 690-0402

Description: The Tribal College Extension grant program allows the 1994 Land-Grants to create extension offices for their reservation communities. Each extension office works with reservation communities to build programs that target local needs. The result is a diversified and targeted outreach. Reservation youth participate in fun activities in a safe environment. Farmers and ranchers gain science-based insights to improve their productivity. Financial literacy training enhances rural reservation economies. The 1994 Land-Grants also provide culture-centered family activities to restore Native languages, traditions and agriculture. Within this grant program are two types of funds: Capacity grants and Special Emphasis. Capacity grants fund an entire Extension office which can have many mission areas and clients. Special Emphasis are targeted, short-term pilot projects that allow extension educators to explore new ways to better serve their community.

Description: TRAIL is a three-month (12 lessons) program that provides youth with a comprehensive understanding of healthy lifestyles in order to prevent diabetes. Woven throughout the program are self-esteem and prevention activities. Participants draw from tribal traditions and history to learn about nutrition, healthy food choices, media influences, and the impact of diabetes. Clubs also implement the Nike Let Me

Play and SPARK physical activity programs to foster club-wide participation in fun activities and games for 60 minutes every day. TRAIL emphasizes the importance of teamwork and community service. Members engage in service projects to improve healthy lifestyles in their communities, including starting community gardens to connect youth to their food source and organizing community-wide physical fitness events.

Main Point of Contact:

Jeff de la Concepcion Email: Jeff.delaconcepcion@nara.gov

Description: This program seeks proposals to publish documentary editions of historical records. Projects may focus on the papers of major figures from American history or cover broad historical movements in politics, military, business, social reform, the arts, and other aspects of the national experience. The historical value of the records and their expected usefulness to broad audiences must justify the costs of the project. The goal of this program is to provide access to, and editorial context for, the historical documents and records that tell the American story. The NHPRC encourages projects, whenever possible and appropriate, to provide free access to these materials in an open online environment, without precluding other forms of publication.

National Endowment for the Arts

🗕 🔺 Program: Challenge America

Agency: National Endowment for the Arts Type of Resource: Financial, $10,000

Eligible: Nonprofit, tax-exempt 501(c)(3), U.S. organizations; units of state or local government; or federally recognized tribal communities or tribes may apply. Applicants may be arts organizations, local arts agencies, arts service organizations, local education agencies (school districts), and other organizations that can help advance the goals of the National Endowment for the Arts.

Main Point of Contact:

Challenge America Specialists: challengeamerica@arts.gov

Description: The Challenge America category offers support primarily to small and mid-sized organizations for projects that extend the reach of the arts to underserved populations—those whose opportunities to experience the arts are limited by geography, ethnicity, economics, or disability. Age alone (e.g., youth, seniors) does not qualify a group as underserved; at least one of the underserved characteristics noted above also must be present. Grants are available for professional arts programming and for projects that emphasize the potential of the arts in community development. These grants are for a fixed amount of $10,000 and require a minimum $10,000 cost share/match.

Agency: National Endowment for the Arts Type of Resource: Financial, $25,000 to $200,000

Eligible: All applications require partnerships that involve at least two primary partners as defined by these guidelines: a nonprofit organization and a local governmental entity. One of the two primary partners must be a cultural (arts or design) organization. Additional partners are encouraged.

Main Point of Contact:

Our Town Specialists: ot@arts.gov

Description: Our Town is the National Endowment for the Arts' creative placemaking grants program. Through project-based funding, we support projects that integrate arts, culture, and design activities into efforts that strengthen communities by advancing local economic, physical, and/or social outcomes. Successful Our Town projects ultimately lay the groundwork for systemic changes that sustain the integration of arts, culture, and design into local strategies for strengthening communities. These projects require a partnership between a local government entity and nonprofit organization, one of which must be a cultural organization; and should engage in partnership with other sectors (such as agriculture and food, economic development, education and youth, environment and energy, health, housing, public safety, transportation, and workforce development). Matching grants range from $25,000 to $200,000, with a minimum cost share/match equal to the grant amount.
